LATEST RELEASE JUNE 2023

Li Laurent is an enigmatic singer-songwriter who writes songs about feeling very deeply and/or being incredibly sassy. Known for her powerhouse vocals, dynamic performances and award-winning live shows. She embraces the concept of "doing it all" and "being yourself" as an international trauma specialist, researcher and performance artist (all at once but reasonably, not at the exact same time). In early 2022 Li bridged the gaps between these roles altogether and successfully established her own online specialist company, curating an expert team in the fields of science, psychology and medicine, who just so happen, to also be industry creatives. This "what ceiling?" approach to life has most recently led to the simultaneous achievements of international radio airplay (Australia, UK, Sweden, USA), BBC Introducing's "Track of the Week", Fringe Nomination and scientific journal publication. Her graft across industries is intangible.

Her visual concept album "Parts" is out later this year.
